Department of Statistics

27th June 2005

Dear Jianqing,

I am delighted to write in support of the new Centre for Statistical Research of the Chinese National Academy. The contribution of Chinese researchers to statistics has been a phenomenal success and the new centre is very welcome and timely. On behalf of the London School of Economics I wish you very great success. This institution very much values its links with China and we look forward to working with you to build most fruitful relations.

With kind regards,
